SUPPLEMENTAL DETAILED ACTION

Office Action Vacated

1. Applicant's request for vacating the last Office Action is persuasive and therefore, the action dated July 5, 2007 is withdrawn.

Election/Restrictions

Species Election

2. This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

Species I is drawn to an infectious microbial agent within the method being chosen from microorganisms containing a bacterium, virus, parasite or fungus.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

3. The claims are deemed to correspond to the species listed above in the following manner:

A) Species I encompasses claims 8-12

4. The following claim(s) are generic: 1-7 and 13-14.

5. The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

Species I. The pathogens do not form a single general inventive concept because: The methods rely upon the pathogens selected from a bacterium, virus, parasite or fungus. These pathogens are distinct physically, structurally, and functionally.

a) Bacteria are unicellular prokaryotic microorganisms which generally possess rigid cell walls, multiply by cell division, and exhibit three principal forms: round or coccid, rodlike or bacillary, and spiral or spirochetal. Therefore if bacterium is selected, then claims 8,9, 10 and 11 with respect only to the bacteria will be examined.

b) Viruses are minute infectious agents whose genomes are composed of DNA or RNA, but not both. They are characterized by a lack of independent metabolism and the inability to replicate outside living host cells. Therefore if virus is selected, then claims 8,9, and 12 with respect only to the viruses will be examined.

Art Unit: 1645

c) Parasites are invertebrate organisms that live on or in another organism (the host), and benefit at the expense of the other. Traditionally parasites are excluded from definition of pathogenic bacteria, viruses and fungi, though they may live parasitically. Therefore if parasite is selected, then claim 8, with respect only to the parasites will be examined.

d) Fungi are defined as a eukaryotic, heterotrophic organisms that live parasitically as saprobes, including mushrooms, yeasts, smuts, mold etc. Fungi reproduce either sexually or asexually and have life cycles that range from simple to complex. Therefore if fungus is selected, then claim 8, with respect only to fungus will be examined.

Thus these pathogens as determined by their different structure and associated functions are patentably distinct, each from the other. One pathogen is not required to practice the invention with another. Each pathogens comprises separate and distinct functions that do not share a substantial structural feature disclosed as being essential to the utility of the invention.

6. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

7. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

8. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Ja-Na Hines whose telephone number is 571-272-0859. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday-Thursday and alternate Fridays.

If attempts to reach the examiner by telephone are unsuccessful, the examiner's supervisor Jeffery Siew, can be reached on 571-272-0787. The fax phone number for the organization where this application or proceeding is assigned is 571-273-8300.
